Signs of Student Substance Use and Misuse

As educators, we understand that a certain amount of risk-taking is a normal part of adolescent development. The desire to try new things and become more independent is healthy, but it may also increase teens' tendencies to experiment with drugs and alcohol. Because the teenage brain is still developing, substance use at this age has more potential to disrupt brain function in areas critical to memory, learning, judgment, and behavior control. You might ask, how can we help our students?

InvestED + NWESD kids jumping

Join InvestED, the NWESD, and partner school districts in raising funds to assist students. 100% of the funds raised by this campaign will boost support for local students in need.

Last year, InvestED benefited more than 80,000 students in the NWESD region. Your donation will help students in the NWESD region get to school, engage in school, and graduate! Every donation matters! This online campaign ends November 30th

Join the OSPI, AESD, AWSP PreK-3rd Grade Leadership Network

OSPI in partnership with the AESD and AWSP is launching the PreK-3rd Grade Leadership Network for principals and district administrators seeking to identify and develop school improvement strategies focused on the early years. Participants will learn about key strategies, early learning initiatives, and network with other districts.

Registration is limited to district and school administrators. Central office/principal teams are strongly encouraged to attend together. Complete this short survey to sign up.
