District announces administrative leadership changes for 2007-2008

David Jones will transfer from Eisenhower Middle to the principalship position at Cedar Wood Elementary for the 2007-2008 school year. Principal Jill Tokumoto announced last month that she is stepping down from her position as Cedar Wood's principal as her family is relocating to Texas. Jones joined Everett Public Schools in 1994 as a high school counselor at H.M. Jackson High School. In 1999, he became principal at Eisenhower Middle School. Jones is excited about this opportunity to return to the elementary level where he began his administrative career.

Joyce Brossoit will become the principal at Eisenhower Middle School to replace Jones. Brossoit has been the assistant principal there for the past two years. After having survived the school's remodel, she knows every nook and cranny at Eisenhower. This move maintains continuity for the Eisenhower community.

New district employee, Bryan Toutant will replace Brossoit at Eisenhower. Toutant comes from the Central Kitsap School District where he taught math and was dean of students at the middle school level since 2004. Prior to moving to Washington, Toutant taught middle school math in Connecticut and California beginning in 1992.

Sherri Kokx will be assistant principal at North Middle School. Since joining Everett Public Schools in 1997 as a Gateway Middle School math teacher, Kokx has taken on ever-increasing leadership roles. At North she has been a Gear Up and AVID teacher and the school's administrative intern. Kokx has been North's interim assistant principal and looking forward to this assignment.
