

Financial Education Public-Private Partnership

Setting the Washington Agenda for Financial Education

- Are you interested in attending a fun, hands-on professional development event that provides you with active participation lessons that you can take back and use in your classroom the next day?
- Are you looking for ways to make your classes more relevant and exciting while simultaneously reinforcing common core standards?
- Do you want to join the elite few educators who have financial education training? (You don't need to be Suzy Orman to successfully teach students of any age about personal finance.)

Then please apply to attend the Financial Education and Training Institute.

What: Financial Education Training for k-12 Teachers

Where: Sno-Isle Tech Skills Center, 9001 Airport Road, Everett, WA 98204

When: February 12 and 13, 2013

Times: 8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily

The Financial Education Public Private Partnership will provide full scholarships (a $400 value) on a first-come first-served basis to all educators whose applications are accepted. Space is limited – our last institute filled up in a week, so register today.

The Institute is a fun and informative two-day program, providing ample opportunities for discussion and participation. The Financial Education Public Private Partnership, a committee created by the legislature that brings together organizations from both the public and private sector in an effort to provide quality financial education for students in our state, is proud to offer this program to you.

You will receive:

- Training on financial concepts
- Introduction to financial education methods using age appropriate active participation lessons that both you and your students will enjoy
- Financial education curriculums
- Up to $140 a day in sub pay
- Continental breakfast and lunch (both days)
- 12 Complimentary Clock Hours

Space is limited for this event, apply today at: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/KVYF9Q7>

You will receive notification via e-mail as to whether or not you have been accepted to the program by January 11, 2013.

The school districts of participants who register for and are accepted to attend the workshop and who then fail to attend the training without giving adequate notice (two weeks) will be billed for the workshop fee ($400). While we recognize that emergencies can and do happen, we experienced a large number of no-shows or last minute drops at our recent training. This was particularly distressing because we had waiting lists for the event.

We hope you will consider attending this exciting learning opportunity.

Organizations presenting at the conference include the Washington Council for Economic and Financial Education (Council for Economic Education), NEFE, Washington Society of CPAs, Department of Financial Institutions, OSPI, and Junior Achievement.

Information about FEPPP can be found at: <http://www.feppp.org/>.

Questions? Contact Tracy Godat, OSPI, Tracy.Godat@k12.wa.us