

Our students will lead and shape the future

News release

Feb. 23, 2016

Dr. Sally Lancaster to be Assistant Superintendent, July 1, 2016

Currently, Everett High Principal, Lancaster began career as a teacher and has moved through ranks to become Assistant Superintendent

As of July 1, Dr. Sally Lancaster will take her Seagull wings from her office at Everett High School to an Assistant Superintendent office at the Community Resource Center. She is replacing Dr. Peter Scott in that position. Scott is moving to another area of the CRC in July to be Associate Superintendent of Curriculum, Assessment and Special Programs. Dr. Tony Byrd now holds that position, but is leaving the district in July to become the Executive Director of Teach For America Washington.

Lancaster addressing a group of students, parents and staff at scholarship dinner.

Lancaster began work in Everett Public Schools in 1988. Superintendent Gary Cohn says of her, “She has proven success as a teacher, a teacher-librarian, instructional technology coordinator, assistant principal and principal. She knows schools, school students, school staff and parents from all vantage points. They and we know her as a relationship-builder, an advocate for each student and a lifelong learner, collaborator and catalyst for what works for students.”

Associate Superintendent Dr. Joyce Stewart credits Lancaster with, “working collaboratively with Everett High staff to increase graduation rates and narrow the gap for traditionally underserved students. This includes low-income students, minority students, students with disabilities and English learners. Everett High Staff did this work using personalized approaches to meet the learning needs of each student.”

(more)

Cohn notes, “The number of students taking AP classes at Everett High has increased significantly because Sally and staff emphasized the learning and success benefits of those classes. More students are taking the classes AND the tests, recognizing this as a vital step toward being ready for success in college and careers.

“Parental involvement at Everett High is stronger and more diverse because Sally and her staff reached out and went out to the community. As all good leaders do, Sally is stepping away from Everett High school, leaving it a better place and making sure it is a solid place for the next Everett High School leader to continue collaborating and improving.”

About her change of location and responsibilities, Lancaster said, “No matter which district schools I work with in my new role, I will forever be an advocate for students, families and staff of Everett High School AND other students throughout the district.

“Everett High is a truly wonderful school. It is filled with engaging and engaged students. Staff are committed to each student’s learning. Our strong school community proudly supports its children and its schools. Our community unfailingly embraces our learners and our teachers to make this the incredible school it is today.

“Everett High is on the rise. Graduation rates are up. Students are making strong academic growth; the achievement gap is narrowing. And this continuous improvement will continue. I am certain staff, students and community will work together to continue this growth mindset, focus on success and our strong upward trajectory.”

The district has begun a process to find a replacement for Lancaster and build in transition time between now and when she changes roles on July 1.

For more information:

Mary Waggoner, Director of Communications, 425-385-4040

Debra Kovacs, Executive Director of Human Resources, 425-385-4101

---end---