EHS Community:

I hope you are enjoying the fall sunshine. A couple of time sensitive items came across my desk late Friday that I wanted to pass on to you:

- The UW Honors Program is holding some informational events and the deadline to RSVP is Monday. I am sorry about the late notice but I just received an email yesterday.
- For students interested in construction careers, the annual Construction Carnival is coming up. There are only 10 seats left on the bus. The first ten students to turn in their permission slips will be able to go.

Have a great weekend!

Catherine

Admission Information Nights

Considering applying to the UW Honors Program? You're invited to join the University Honors Program to learn how Honors enhances the UW experience and to have your questions answered by Honors students, staff, and faculty. The Honors Information Evenings are designed to give you specific insight into the Honors Program, community, and application process. At this event, you'll have an opportunity to:

- * Meet Honors students, faculty, and staff
  - * Get an overview of Honors education with perspectives from Honors advisers and a panel of current Honors students from different disciplines
- * Walk through the Honors Program admissions process and timeline
  - * Learn about a variety of community and study abroad opportunities

* Ask all of your questions about what it's like to be a UW Honors student!

Please join us from 6:30-7:30 pm in Kane Hall 110 on the UW-Seattle campus on one of the following dates:

- * Monday, October 26
- * Monday, November 9

As space is limited, please RSVP by October 12!

Construction Carnival – October 22:

There are 10 spots on the field trip bus for students who are seriously interested in exploring many construction industry options and Apprenticeship Programs. Students should stop by the Career Center (A107) to pick up a field trip form.

“Agenda: ride a boom lift, talk to journeymen, bend a tool tray out of sheet metal, find a local training program that’s right for you, eat lunch, then work off those calories while framing a house.”

Flyer attached.

Meet an Author at the Everett Public Library:

Mary Lou Sanelli will speak about her book Among Friends: a memoir at 2 p.m., Saturday, October 17, at the Everett Public Library, Main Library Auditorium, 2702 Hoyt Ave., Everett. Known to local listeners from regular appearances on KSER-FM radio, Mary Lou also writes and performs. Mary Lou Sanelli will focus her multi-faceted talent on a presentation of her newest book: Among Friends: a memoir. Described as “one woman’s tale of expectations, disappointments, regrets and discoveries while searching for friends-for-life," the book has attracted quite a following, partly due to Sanelli's abilities and renown, and partly to its inherent raw yet tender honesty. Sanelli works as a writer and performer. Her recent collection of essays, Falling Awake, and her latest collection of poetry, Small Talk, are also in bookstores now. She contributes to The Seattle Times, and to Crosscut, and is a regular columnist for City Living and Art Access magazines. She is heard periodically on NPR and monthly on KSER-FM & KONP-AM. As a dancer, Sanelli performed with Spectrum Dance Theater. Her dynamic stage presence stresses performance as strongly as literature. Her readings engage an audience with poignant insights and gentle self-effacing humor. Critics have called her work "... highly readable and entertaining" and "... jaw-droppingly honest." She performs her staged reading of her book, "The Immigrant's Table," throughout the country.

This program is free and open to the public. For more information, call 425-257-8000. (See attached flyer)
