

Features of a Textbook—“you do”

Now that you have looked at the purposes for each feature, and you have identified various features within actual textbook page, you are going to create your own page.

Directions:

- Create a “mock” textbook page using five of the elements of a textbook.
- Write two paragraphs within page

Here is an example:

☀ You may choose ANY of the features to use! ☀

1. Heading/Title
2. Preview
3. Bold Face Term
4. Photo/Illustration
5. Glossary

Softball #1

Preview #2

Throughout this chapter you will learn about the rules of softball. Softball is very similar to baseball, except the ball is bigger and the diamond is smaller.

Section 1

The softball #3 is a ball larger than a baseball, but smaller than a grapefruit. It has the same density and look as a baseball. The softball diamond is smaller in dimension than a baseball diamond. In softball the base paths are 60 feet instead of 90 feet. Also, the pitching mound is 40 feet instead of 60 feet.

#4

Vocabulary #5:

Softball: a ball used in a game similar to baseball