Scholarships

There are two types of scholarships--need-based and merit-based. Need-based scholarships are awarded to students with financial need. Merit-based scholarships are awarded for academic achievement, volunteer work, or a special talent, trait, or interest.

Many scholarships are geared toward particular groups of people; for instance, there are scholarships for women who want to pursue a career in science. Some scholarships may be available if your teen comes from a particular background.

A scholarship might cover the entire cost of tuition, or it might be a one-time award of a few hundred dollars. Either way, it's worth applying for, because it'll help reduce the cost of education.

1. Help your child create a profile. To search for scholarships, you must first register as a scholarship seeker. Go to www.theWashBoard.org.
2. Then, have your child create a profile. They will need to answer questions about their interests and plans. Complete as much of the profile as possible. Your child can always come back at any time to edit or add to the profile.
3. Next, make sure your child selects all of the colleges he or she is considering.
4. Finally, FIND MATCHES! After they have completed a profile, click on "My Matches." You will go to a screen that shows you a list of scholarship opportunities that could be good matches for your child.
5. Start applying! There are scholarships that don't require students to be high school seniors or citizens. Explore what options are available.

Did You Know?

The best way to research a college's Cost of Attendance is to use the US Department of Education's Net Price Calculator (<http://collegecost.ed.gov/netpricecenter.aspx>).

Use it to estimate how much a college could cost. Net price is a term for the Cost of Attendance minus any grants and scholarships for which students may be eligible.
