Exploring College Campuses

Visiting a college campus is one of the most exciting steps in choosing a college. If possible, it's best if you can visit multiple campuses before your senior year. Visiting colleges is a great way to get a feel for what college is like. It can help you decide if a specific college is a right fit.

Exploring campuses is well worth your while. You don't have to travel far —visiting local two- and four-year colleges is just as valuable. It's best to go when the college is in session. That way, you'll get to see it when classes are meeting and day-to-day activities are taking place.

Campus visits can range from a quick hour to an overnight stay, from a casual guided tour to a formal presentation. Most campus visits will include the following:

- An information session. An admissions representative talks to you or your group about the college before the campus tour.
- A campus tour. These are usually led by current students. You'll see the main parts of the campus and have a chance to ask questions.

To arrange a visit, contact that school's admissions office or check colleges child's high school College and Career Specialist to see if they are planning a visit that you can attend or check in for your school!
